

It is fine that the FCC can set guidelines for telemarketers and the "do not call" list rules. But the individual states like Wisconsin should be allowed to have stronger laws than the FCC in this regard. We do not like to be bothered when we are enjoying our free time with our family and friends.